

On Sight

KC Melting Pot Theatre, in association with Tosin Morohunfolo presents a screening of "On Sight ". The film was written and directed by Tosin as a response to police brutality accounts that have populated the media in the last year and the implicit bias people bring to a situation, unknowingly. The story inspires conversation about the relationship between Police and Civilians, Duty versus Jurisdiction, the condemning power of Suspicion, and who pays the price.

Tosin Morohunfolo

The son of Nigerian parents, Morohunfolo grew up in Leawood Kansas and attended Blue Valley High School. He graduated in theatre arts from the University Of Kansas with a degree in Theatre. He has been a steady acting presence at The Unicorn and The Coterie, the Heart of America Shakespeare Festival and the New Theatre Restaurant. Morohunfolo moved to Chicago in 2013 when he was offered a role at the Goodman Theatre. He'll return to Kansas City in September to direct The Presidents for The Coterie Theatre. Morohunfolo has been featured on several network television shows including recent TV roles in Chicago Fire, Empire and a recurring role in Chicago Med.
